Because dinner is for laughing, not texting.

Conversation Starters

Growing up in a family of 10, dinnertime was sacred time for our family to come together around the table and share stories, laughter and a traditional home-cooked meal. It also gave us time to build upon our strong faith. In today's fast-paced, digital world where families often seem to be constantly on the go, we wanted to single out a night of the week where families can enjoy time together at our restaurants, free from the distraction of modern devices like cell phones or tablets. It's a time to get back to the basics by engaging in meaningful conversations with loved ones. We hope you enjoy these conversation starters as much as we do – you never know when you might learn something new about your close friends and family!
